Respected friends:-

Replying to yours of recent date I beg to say I did not refer to your Auction Sales in particular, as I presume all Coin Dealers use the same rule for their sales. What I do not like is this:- If a person bids $3.00 on a coin he gets it at that figure if no one else bids more, but he is obliged to pay ten percent more than this also postage etc. It is not so in Stamp Auction Sales. If a person bids $3.00 on a stamp it means his limit on that stamp. He will pay no more. If the Dealer who represents him can buy it for $1.75 or less he does so, and there is no extra charge except postage & registration. If Coin Sales were held this way I should buy quite a number, but you see it is very foolish for me to pay five or six Dollars for a coin when I can buy one just as good at private for $3.50 or $4.00 Respectfully, Chas Wainwright

Gentlemen,

I trust you will pardon me for the words used in my last letter. I did not understand that bought the coins at the lowest price possible. Always understood you did not change the bids. Yours is the only firm that I ever bought coins from at auction. You notice I have not bought any of late. Why should I if I can buy cheaper at private sale? Would you yourself pay six or seven dollars for a coin if you could buy it for three or four? But Gentlemen let us not talk any more about auction sales. If you can sell me coins as cheaply as the other fellow at private sale why can't we do some business? Now please give me your lowest price on bright uncirculated U. S. Five Dollar Gold Pieces 1903 or 1904. Be careful as I can buy them quite low. I shall need quite a number during 1904 and if your price is right I would buy them of you as soon as I would anyone else.

P. S. Please state if your price includes postage and registration or if that is extra.
